Date: 21.9.2004

Ven. Pannyavaro

Referring to our conversation with you in Sydney, I asked for your permission to publish World Buddhist Directory from your Buddhanet website. I would like to distribute the Directory to the participants from forty countries as Dhammadana at the forthcoming Fourth World Buddhist Summit. I believe the Directory would contribute to the promotion of Buddha Sasana throughout the world. Please reply as soon as possible by e-mail. I look forward to hearing from you soon.

Updating the World Buddhist Directory via BuddhaNet.net

The most self-evident truth in the universe is that all things change. This is especially true of new Buddhist organizations in non-Buddhist countries as many are still in the formative stage.

So you can be sure that the hard copy of this directory has also changed since it was published. New organizations and groups would have formed other would have dropped out. Corrections would need to be done and contact details need updating, etc.

Fortunately, with the new medium of the Internet these changes can be accommodated. We are constantly updating and improving the directory at BuddhaNet. So you can access the latest version the World Buddhist Directory by going online to the BuddhaNet Web site.

HOW TO UPDATE:

Find an updated version of BuddhaNet's World Buddhist Directory at http://www.buddhanet.net

All Buddhist organizations worldwide are invited to send their information, corrections and updates for inclusion in the online directory, and are welcome to advertise their events and teachings, free of charge, on BuddhaNet's online Notice Board.

Either fill in the online forms or email your information to:
webmaster@buddhanet.net

About BuddhaNet.net

"The World's Premier Buddhist Website"

BuddhaNet is an electronic Buddhist education and information content provider on the Internet's World Wide Web. Its aim is to propagate the Buddha Dharma through the new information technologies. A senior Australian monk, Ven. Pannyavaro of the Buddha Dharma Education Association in Sydney, Australia, established BuddhaNet in July 1992.

Pannyavaro first used computers for some basic desktop publishing, and after being given a modem he discovered the on-line community and BuddhaNet came into being. BuddhaNet was the first Buddhist BBS (bulletin board system) in Australia, which later became one of the first Buddhist websites on the net. This electronic Buddhist Information Network on the Internet's World Wide Web is now one of the largest and most popular Buddhist site in the world, with an average of 800,000 strikes per day.

BuddhaNet is a non-sectarian organisation offering its services to all Buddhist traditions. It aims to facilitate a significant Buddhist presence in the ever-expanding realm of computer communications technology, applying this technology to helping make the Buddha's teachings freely available to all.

Over the years, a worldwide Buddhist directory has and is being developed to serve the Buddhist community. It include an index of organisations with their websites, email addresses, and their regular meditation and teachings programmes. The site includes a large collection of web links to other Buddhist resources: Buddhist Studies, Buddhist Books and Journals, Theravada Buddhism, Tibetan Buddhism, Zen Buddhism and other Mahayana Schools.

In the "Notice Board" section you can find out what is offered in the Buddhist World with updated information on meditation retreats, classes, seminars, Dharma teachings, community notices, services and projects. The popular electronic file library has a selection of zipped archived text and graphic files on general Buddhism, Buddhist Art, Theravada Buddhism, Mahayana Buddhism, Meditation and Zen Buddhism.

BuddhaZine is BuddhaNet's Online Magazine with Buddhist computer art, Buddhist comics in Flash format, articles on the relationship between psychotherapy and meditation, and a gallery of Buddhist art and architecture. There is also a BuddhaNet Kids Page, a section on Women in Buddhism, Photo documentaries, Buddhist crosswords, and magazine articles on contemporary Buddhism.

The Insight Meditation Online section has courses, teachings and a workshop on Insight meditation (vipassana) by six renowned teachers. It includes RealAudio meditation instruction files, zipped archived meditation files and a facility for answering questions on meditation. A loving-kindness meditation section caters for the beginner to the advance level and includes a section on teaching loving-kindness to children. Audio CDs on Insight and Loving-kindness meditation are also available from BuddhaNet.

Other sections include over 170 electronic books (BuddhaNet eBooks) or PDF documents. The Death and Dying section has information on Buddhist hospices, and articles on caring for the dying and bereaved. One of the most popular sections is The Buddhist World, which is an encyclopaedic tour of the culture and customs in the major Buddhist countries and traditions; BuddhaNet Audio is a collection of Dharma talks in RealAudio and MP3 that can either be listened to on the net or downloaded.

The Buddhist Studies section has become the main feature of the site. It contains education material on all aspects of Buddhism: a Basic Buddhism Guide, outlines and summaries of the basics concepts and teachings; the Buddhist Studies for Primary and Secondary Schools with a Teacher's Handbook, which is a graded training course in Buddhism for primary and secondary students, also available as a CD-ROM: an Online Study Guide, which is a self-study course on Buddhism based on the Historical Buddha, His Teachings, and Buddhist History and Culture. The material ranges from introductory teachings to advance scriptural and meditation texts.

BuddhaNet's success is the result of a vision to link up the growing worldwide culture of people committed to the Buddha's teachings and lifestyle as an on-line cyber Sangha. In this way, an ancient tradition and the information superhighway have come together to create an electronic meeting place of shared concern and interests.

Need for Ongoing Support

BuddhaNet is made available by the Buddha Dharma Education Association, which is run by Ven. Pannyavaro, with the help of volunteers. Funding comes by donations only. The organisation is run on a shoestring. We need help to continue this service to the Buddhist community.
